

James Jarvis Instructor

Education

- > American Military University

Key Areas of Expertise

- > Certified protection specialist, ESI
- > Personal protection specialist, EPI
- > Firearms Training
- > Martial Arts Training

Relevant Experience

- > Protection Outside the Home Instructor
- > Ohio Peace Officer Training Commission Private Investigator/Security Officer

James Jarvis is an Executive Protection Specialist, Risk Mitigation and Counterintelligence Expert, and Force Protection/Defensive Tactics Instructor. He couples a high level of dedication and professionalism with decades of eclectic and specialized education, training, and experience. Mr. Jarvis has extensive experience providing physical and electronic risk management strategies and countermeasures. Mr. Jarvis provides training specializing in firearms and defensive tactics as well as providing a networking resource for industry professionals.

James graduated with honors from both Executive Security International (ESI) and the Executive Protection Institute (EPI), the two most well-known and prestigious executive protection schools. Additionally, he studied at American Military University, specializing in Counterintelligence and provides his unique skills to executives, multinational corporations, celebrities, athletes, and at large special events.

In addition to his executive protection training, Mr. Jarvis has over 10 years martial arts experience and was co-owner/senior instructor at a martial arts school. He has over three decades of firearms as well as competitive shooting experience with the shotgun, pistol, and 3 gun. Mr. Jarvis is a senior instructor with Executive Security International where his students range from private security professionals, law enforcement, and military including Special Operations. He is also a graduate of Magpul's Dynamic Handgun series.